10:07:22   From anitamacbook : Great point, Pazit! Board members need to have plenty of opportunities to get to know one another, enjoy the time they have together, just like our plans for members, volunteers.
10:18:35   From Lynn Golub-Rofrano : We have established responsibilities for board members and they sign every year their commitments so they are clear and defined
10:20:42   From scottparkin : Any thoughts about whether it's a good idea to have a married or committed couple on the board?
10:25:03   From Kathy Stevens-Capacity Partners : Boards can establish board buddies/mentors to provide ongoing orientation support for the first year of someone's board service
10:25:46   From Kathy Stevens-Capacity Partners : Having board members fill out a board matrix with their skills and experiences can help identify areas that people excel in 10:36:28   From Kathy Stevens-Capacity Partners : There are templates available for annual board assessments
10:36:44   From anitamacbook : Bill, I agree a Governance or Nominations Committee is really important.
10:45:27   From benjamin consilvio : are there examples of the documents mentioned today available for sharing: Matrix of needs, sample annual commitment letter, confidentiality agreements, position descriptions, etc.
